

FABRICATION FOCUS
CATERING INSIGHT NOVEMBER 2015

Have you recently invested in your facilities? If so, how and why?

As a growing business, we are always looking at ways that we can improve and streamline our operation. Machinery is a key part of our operation of course, and we are currently looking to invest in a new top of the range Press Brake which will help us to increase production, in turn reducing our lead times and costs and creating even more satisfied customers! This will further enhance our machinery inventory – which already includes a modern laser cutter and PEGA.

Not all improvements are based on new machinery however, and we are also working on the implementation of a new LEAN objective that will help us work smarter and improve efficiencies throughout.

What trends are you seeing in the fabrication orders you are receiving?

In some areas we are seeing an increase in 'off the shelf' items, for which we work with our partner Simply Stainless. This range of Modular Fabrication can be supplied for Next Working Day delivery throughout the UK and is a fantastic solution where speed is of the essence. The wide range of accessories that can be added at any time allow us to provide the benefits of a bespoke solution, at the speed of standard stock items. Of course, our Fabrications team are also on hand to incorporate any adjustments that the standard range cannot accomplish.

Our Food Solutions division are also seeing a lot of enquiries for Front of House self serve concepts, working with the Fabrications team right from design to final roll out. We are always on the lookout for new innovations and finding ways that we can help our customers take their ideas to a reality!

What are your unique selling points as a fabricator?

We offer a full service from design to production and can incorporate our fabricated bespoke solutions with our Simply Stainless 'off the shelf' system to provide something incredibly versatile with minimum lead time. We constantly push the boundaries of what is possible with metal, creating new and exciting designs for our customers, based on years of knowledge within the Fabrication industry.

Can you specify any recent projects you were involved in and challenges you had to overcome?

Our recently acquired Pret a Manger contract has been a completely new challenge for both our Fabrications and Head Office teams. The enormity of the project and the quality expected from this highly regarded high street brand has pushed us to develop our skills even further, incorporating areas such as plumbing and electrical work. As a result of the huge team effort made by all involved we are now able to offer the complete Turnkey solution expected by Pret and are now working with them as they expand their US stores.
